

Eddie Qureshi is the Founder and CEO of Rainfall Health, where he is building the first AI-powered compliance mark for healthcare standards in post-surgery care — spanning Medicare mandated models and beyond. With a scientific background in synthetic biology, Eddie brings a rigorous, systems-thinking approach to one of healthcare's most complex challenges: ensuring consistent, high-quality care for patients when they are most vulnerable.

His mission is deeply personal. Inspired by his grandmother and mother — both physicians who dedicated their careers to serving underserved communities — Eddie founded Rainfall Health to carry forward their commitment to equitable care, at scale. By harnessing artificial intelligence, he is translating that legacy into infrastructure that helps healthcare providers meet the highest standards of post-surgical care for the patients who need it most.
